The Weatherization Program is this country’s longest running and perhaps the most successful energy efficiency program. It enables low income families to permanently reduce their energy bills by making their homes more energy efficient. On average, weatherization reduces heating bills by 31%. By reducing the energy bills of low income families, weatherization reduces dependency and liberates income for spending on more pressing issues such as food and medicine.

A trained professional will conduct a home energy audit to determine your home’s energy wastefulness. Air sealing, insulation, air quality and efficiency of refrigeration, lighting, heating and air conditioning are the programs main focus. A work order will be generated by the State’s computer system and will then be assigned to a pre-qualified program contractor to perform the work.
